Subject: Thank you

I cannot quite express how impressed I am with the work done in such a short amount of time - and the professional conciliatory way in which the product was presented - oh yes, - and engaging and well-paced.

I also feel that our current school board is composed of well intended and long suffering and unselfish individuals who do have the best interest of the students at the core of their efforts. Perhaps they were ill-served or under-served as they were given preparatory material to study prior to their decision for the one building option.

Many folks on both "sides" of this issue can learn from your example -and let's all remember not to resort to any recriminations but move forward toward genuine consensus and progress. -- well done for the public.
